16th May 2020

Dear Friends,

Here is your Sunday Worship Pack for this Sunday (17th May – Easter 6) for Worshipping at Home.

There are a number of new things here this week to note

- Two extra attachments today – one is a new on-line Community Magazine 'Cranfold Sparkle' aimed at people who are feeling isolated. The other is a flyer about some classes on Zoom – if you know of anyone who might not be on my circulation list but would benefit from these resources, please feel free to forward them, or to print them off and give it to them.
- Details of a Church Virtual Afternoon Tea each Tuesday afternoon at 4
- Pointer to the Cathedral Website for a broad range of worship resources
- Notice about Plants
- Message from Jean Quallington

Not in the resources, but many of you will have heard that our Bishop, responding to the House of Bishops' Guidelines, has now given permission for one nominated member of the clergy and their household to go into the Church and to pray and record/live-stream services. I have mixed feelings about this – there is the thought that this represents yet another 'privilege' to me of something that is being denied to you! And there is an alternative feeling that you folk would really like to see me leading worship from behind the altar in Church! Having talked to a few of you about this, it seems that there is a considerable leaning towards the latter viewpoint, so I have made the decision that for Pentecost Sunday (31st May) I and Kate will record the Sunday Communion Service from the Church.

With all good wishes,
God Bless,
Roy
